

BOW VALLEY RESOURCE

Including Arrowwood, Milo, Queenstown, Shouldice and Mossleigh

Volume 2, No. 47

ARROWWOOD, ALTA., JULY 13, 1933

Subscription $2.00, U.S.A. $2.50

Regular Meeting of Arrowwood Council

The Council met at the Village office at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 5th, all Councilors being present. The minutes of the June meeting were read and on motion by Beagle were adopted as read.

Communications from Municipal District of Royal and A. A. Mackenzie were read and filed. Accounts of Land Titles Office, Bow Valley Resource, A. A. Clifard and T. S. Board were presented and approved. E. Lovendon moved that J. P. Beagle interview Mr. Kaufman as to putting in forms for sidewalk on the north side of the Curling Ring on 1st Avenue. Carried. Plans for the swings etc., to be erected in the Park were discussed and it was decided to start work on the same as soon as possible. $10 towards this was subscribed by the Community Club and is gratefully acknowledged by the Village.

Picnic at Bow River on Wed., July 19

A picnic will be held at the Bow River on Wednesday July 19th, beginning at 2:30 p.m. All members of the U.F.A. and their families, and all members of the U.F.W.A. and their families are invited to be present.

Sports for the children are under the direction of Messrs. John Williams, Marvin Norton and J. Hesketh.

Bring your baskets for supper at 5:30. Following the supper there will be a joint session of the organization.

Lost—On Friday, June 30th, in front of J. Mackie's residence, a trunk for Nash car. Finder please leave at Resource Office to customers of town well — by paying cash you save half your money.

NOTICE

D. J. Beagle

SUNSHINE SERVICE STATION

Gordon McDougall, Prop., — Mossleigh

Machine Work

Crank Shaft Truing
Re-babbiting on Bearings and Conn. Rods

Acetylene Welding and General Repair Work of All Kinds

SEE US FOR YOUR TURNER VALLEY GAS

Well Known Namaka Farmer Killed By Bull

Wednesday morning, July 5th the people of Namaka and Strathmore Districts were shocked when the news became current that L. F. Pinkerton one of the best known farmers of the Elwood district had been killed by a Holstein bull which was owned by Harvey Hansen.

Constable Carter of the Mounties was notified and visited the scene of the accident after which the body was removed to the Funeral Home of C. W. Chase & Co., where a Coroners jury was summoned and met on Wednesday night before Dr. J. W. Griffin.

Several witnesses, including Mrs. Pinkerton, Harvey Hansen, Mason and son and Fred Hansen, were examined, and brought in a verdict of accidental death after being charged by a Holstein bull owned by H. Hansen and that the said bull be ordered destroyed.

Deceased was 55 years of age and came to the Namaka district in 1909 from Wauson, Wis. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mildred, his brothers William and Milan who reside at Mossleigh, two brothers, Elmer and Louis, and his aged father who reside at Wauson, Wis.

Mr. Pinkerton was well known in the district and was very active in Masonic circles in which he had held many important offices, not only in Strathmore but also throughout the district, and to his widow and daughter the sympathy of a host of friends is extended.

The funeral was held in Calgary on Saturday, July 8th at 1 p.m. from Shaw's Funeral Home with full Masonic rites—Strathmore Standard

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heart felt thanks to our many friends for their kind words of sympathy and floral tributes in our recent bereavement.

(Signed) Mrs. Nellie Pinkerton and daughter Mildred William and Milan Pinkerton.

Tenders Accepted

At a meeting of the Arrowwood Consolidated School Board held on Tuesday evening the tender of Mr. John Mason as caretaker was accepted.

Tenders for van drivers for the following routes were accepted.

West Route—M. R. Leonard
Moss Route—T. T. Williams
Irwin Route—E. Brubaker
Hall Route—F. A. Hall
Richards Route—D. Richards

Mossleigh Girls Win at Basketball, 8-2

The Mossleigh Girls' Basketball team defeated the local girls' team here last Monday evening, by a score of 8-2. The following scored for Mossleigh: Rose Martin 1, Vivian Martin 2, Martha Leslie 1, Vera Hesketh scored the only basket for Arrowwood.

Mossleigh line-up: Rose Martin, Martha Leslie, Olive Bain, Pat Mae, Vivian Martin and Ethel Segal; Arrowwood, Dorothy Brown, Audrey Ward, Mary Dunka, Vera Hesketh and Evelyn Burris.

Queenstown Notes

Many from this district attended the U.F.A. Convention in Meadowbrook Hall last Friday. The Juniors were well represented on the program given in the evening, the following numbers being contributed by the local unit—the report of activities given by Dorothy Mallett; vocal solo, Agnes Rabelke; Trio by Hazel Miller, Dorothy Mallett and Margaret Rabelke; and a humorous two act play "Doctor Cure-All."

Mr. and Mrs. Art Soli. Mrs. H. Elton and son Leslie; and Wallace and Ruth Phillips are holidaying at Banff.

Rev. J. G. Brown was in Carleton on Thursday evening last, where he attended the Induction Service of the Rev. F. Forester into the Carleton Pastoral Charge of the United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Land were Sunday visitors with relatives at Barrons.

The local baseball team defeated Milo 10-9 at Lake McGregor Park Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sloan were visitors to Calgary on Saturday.

At the Calgary Stampede on Wednesday, George Roberts won 1st prize in the bareback bucking horse riding contest, with a loose rope.

Galen and Gerald Robinson are spending a few days of their holidays with their friends in Calgary.

Vacation Bible School

Plans are being developed for the Daily Vacation Bible School to begin July 24 and close with a summary program Sunday evening, August 6.

All the children and youths of the town and community are invited to attend. This school will be entirely non-sectarian. Singing, handwork and supervised recreation, Bible and habit studies, scripture memorization and worship, will constitute daily sessions which will be about two and one-half to three hours in length. Most boys and girls enjoy Vacation Bible School immensely. Parents should plan for their children to attend.

Scholarship Winners Leave For Oslo

The two scholarship winners of Arrowwood School Fair of 1932 left for Oslo Agricultural School, left last Saturday evening from Mossleigh by special train. The representatives were Miss Edith Harp and Jack Williams, Jr. We hope they enjoy a pleasant and profitable week. They expect to return on Saturday the 15th.

Girl Guides and Brownies Organize

A very successful and interesting meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Weins on Saturday evening July 8th. There were eleven mothers present.

The purpose of this meeting was to organize a Girl Guide Club, which will be recognized as the Arrowwood Guides and Brownies. Mrs. Allan Phillips was appointed leader of the Brownies which includes girls from the age of 8 to 11, and Mrs. J. M. Weins leader of the Guides, ages ranging from 11 to 16.

A local committee was appointed whose aims are to sponsor the movement.

The following officers were elected:

Pres.—Mrs. Russell Culp
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T. T. Williams
Sec.—Mrs. — Mrs. Lawrence Larsen

First Meeting Was Held on Tuesday

On Tuesday afternoon the Arrowwood Guides and Brownies held their first meeting at the home of Mrs. J. M. Weins. Dr. Liesemer gave them their first lesson in First Aid, i.e., a lecture on the Respiratory Tract and eventually leading to a demonstration on Artificial Respiration. Mrs. Parnell has kindly consented to take the classes in First Aid under the supervision of Dr. Liesemer.

After the lecture the girls all liked to Vancil's Coulee, where they enjoyed a swim in the creek and ate their supper by the spring. Mrs. Weins took charge of the meeting.

Mossleigh Notes

Miss Godkin and a party of friends from Queenstown spent a few days last week camping at the river.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Nichols are spending a few days in Calgary taking in the stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Garnett have returned to Mossleigh visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Strong.

Mr. Frank Hutson has a guest for the week her sister and brother from British Columbia.

Mossleigh seems quiet this week, almost everyone being in Calgary at the stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stafford motored to Airdrie, visiting relatives there.

Miss Beattie Hurl is spending stampede week in Calgary with Mrs. Maloney.

Mrs. Segal attended the Calgary Stampede on Monday and Tuesday.

A second attempt is being made to secure a water supply in the town. A well is now being drilled on the property of A. J. Troy.

The daily bus service now in operation is a much appreciated convenience for Mossleigh citizens.

A number of the rural subscribers to the Calgary Herald are having their papers dropped off at their residences by the bus driver. In several cases these papers have been lifted by travelers on the highway, much to the discomfort of the subscribers. The subscribers would appreciate it very much if those who would be left where dropped by the bus driver, so the rightful owners may get their papers.

Arrowwood Notes

Miss E. Lyle is visiting with relatives in Calgary.

Born-To Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brubaker, on Friday, July 7th, a son.

Mrs. T. Kelly and Mrs. Hepburn were visitors to Calgary on Wednesday.

Hazel Taylor left last Sunday for Vancouver, where she will visit with relatives.

Born—At Arrowwood, to Mr. and Mrs. P. Kaufman, of Cluny, on Sunday, July 9th, a son.

Messrs. N. Oliver, J. Webb and D. McColeman were at the Stampede on Monday.

The C.G.I.T. Camp breaks up today. A full report will appear next week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hill left last Sunday morning on a motor trip to Waterton Lakes and other points.

Mr. C. L. Dunlop and Mr. E. D. Blair auditors for the Bank of Nova Scotia, arrived in town Monday and are inspecting the local branch.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Ingraham and Mr. A. L. Ingraham left by car on Tuesday for the mountains where they will camp for a while.

Mr. Eldon Fisher, elevator manager near Swift Current, and family are visiting in Arrowwood with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher.

D. W. House and family, Robt. House and Miss Jean McBride are away for a three weeks holiday at Ragnard, Idaho.

The Mossleigh girls' softball team will play their return game with the Arrowwood girls here tonight.

Mrs. G. Leith left on Wednesday for Calgary where she will visit with friends for a week.

W. E. Iredale, auditor for the British American Oil Co. Ltd., was checking the company's stock at their new warehouse here on Tuesday.

Owing to a change in the plans of the Federal Grain Co. we are pleased to report that Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hales will not be leaving Arrowwood. The organizations with which they have been connected will not suffer the loss of these two ardent workers.

(Continued on page 4)

Buffalo Hill Notes

Mr. M. P. Marshall is making slow progress towards recovery and has been advised by the Doctor to go to Vancouver where the altitude is lower than here.

According to recent arrivals from Sylvan Lake, report that the weather is ideal there and the season is in full swing, with a large attendance.

Lake McGregor appears to be getting its share of visitors this year. After the ball game last Sunday the spectators retired to the water which was quite warm, and bathing and swimming was the order of the day.

BASEBALL

On Thursday July, 6th Arrowwood Baseball Club, playing on the Gleichen diamond were beaten by the score 9-3. With the exception of one inning it was a very close game. Due to costly errors in the outfield in the fourth inning, Gleichen scored six runs. Arrowwood were weakened considerably by being short of three regulars.

Arrowwood—D. Bowman ss, Hales 2b, Archambault lf, M. Bowman 3b, E. Norton cf, Mason p, E. Norton rf, Vancil 3b, C. Norton cf.

In the best display of baseball on the local diamond this year the Arrowwood aggregation came out victorious over the Strathmore Rebels at Arrowwood Saturday evening. Last by a score of 3-2. Fred Miller pitching for Arrowwood hurled a splendid game, and the support rendered by the remainder of the team-mates was good. On Tuesday, three double plays aided the Arrowwood boys in cutting off the Strathmore rallies; Mason, Hales, McCullough and Bowman featured in these plays. Strathmore running catch in the centre field was the feature of the game. A. Cronin pitched for Strathmore pitched well, but lack of support at critical times failed.

Hales ss, M. Bowman 1b, M. Norton c, F. Miller 2b, Mason 3b, Archambault lf, E. Norton rf.

Umpire—Dr. Liesemer

Playing perfect ball without an error the local ball tossers again reigned supreme over the opposition on Tuesday evening last when Gleichen were downed 2-1 at the Arrowwood diamond. From the beginning the Gleichen batters were restricted in quick order by perfect fielding on the part of the Arrowwood team. Neither team was able to score until the fifth inning when McCullough and Sharpe scored on well timed hits. Arrowwood was successful at getting the bases loaded in the earlier part of the game but could not hit at the opportune time. Gleichen scored in the seventh inning on a walk and a three base hit. Miller for Arrowwood and Mason were outstanding.

M. Norton c, Miller p, Hales 1b, McCullough 2b, Sharpe ss, Mason 3b, E. Norton rf, C. Norton and D. Vancil cf, Archambault lf.

Umpire—J. Beagle

Rev. F. Forester was inducted at Carleton last Thursday evening. Rev. Mr. Gilbert gave the address to the congregation. Mr. Forester was for some time pastor for south west Arrowwood and has many friends in the community.

IRVINE'S SERVICE GARAGE

Auto, Tractor and Truck Repairs
Tire Repairs, Battery Repairs
Gasoline, Oils, Greases
Goodyear Tires and Tubes
Irvine's Service Station, Mossleigh

Friday Night, July 14th

ARROWWOOD THEATRE

Eddie Cantor

IN

'THE KID FROM SPAIN'

With Lyda Roberti and the Goldwyn Girls

USUAL COMEDY

Adults 35c, High School Students 25c, Children 15c

bilious?

Don't delay!
Relieve congested bowdies of
poisonous waste.
Take Eno now!
and every morning.

TAKE
ENO'S
FRUIT SALT

HEART
OF THE
NORTH

WILLIAM
BYRON
BOWERY

(With Lyrics)
Copyright © 1916 Byron Bowery

CHAPTER XII.—Continued

"But sir," he led on, "when I came back from the Alouka, patrol, he wouldn't co-operate with me then. He didn't seem much interested. I don't think, in getting those bandits."

"Not much interested," Haskell echoed, with a great show of astonishment. "Sir, I wanted him to make a patrol to the Inconnu River. But he was in a temper. He wouldn't even listen to my suggestion."

A wild elation surged through Alan. One more step and Haskell was doomed! He fought down his elation and staided unsteadily in his chair.

Williamson bore down on him hard. "Baker, answer that charge! Haskell suggested a patrol to the Inconnu River. In my opinion that was a splendid suggestion. It was almost the only hope of capturing those criminals. You wouldn't listen to him. How then, can you assert you were forced to buy out?"

"He didn't... It wasn't him that made that suggestion," Alan stammered weakly. "I think I believe it made that suggestion myself. But he wouldn't let me go."

"That's a lie!" Haskell pounced upon him. "I suggested it. I begged him to make that patrol."

Alan looked at Haskell. "You suggested that Inconnu patrol? It was your idea?"

Haskell nodded. "I did. Whipple can witness it." He was smiling openly in triumph.

All Alan's hesitation—dropped away from him. There was no longer need to disintegrate. He turned to Williamson. "You heard him. You heard what he said. He told you he suggested that Inconnu patrol. He just repeated it and said Whipple was witness. Don't let him back out of it now."

"I don't have to back out of anything," Haskell snapped. He was staring in deaden unreason at Baker.

"Yes, I heard him," Williamson answered. "What about it?"

Alan rose slowly to his feet, pulling himself up to his full lank and powerful height. In that moment when he realized Haskell was caught in the deadly trap, his mind whirled back to Joyce's home on the Alouka, to Joyce's room where he had lain through weary hours of doubt and pain, and where he had carefully plotted this attack. He felt a wordless tender gratitude to Joyce; this stratagem was hers more than his; her quick brain had been the first to see its crushing possibility.

"Inspector, you say you asked me to lead that Inconnu patrol. You say you suggested it. You say it occurred to you that the bandits would escape by that river. I say you are a liar! I propose to prove you're a liar."

for STIFFNESS

Plenty of Minard's will relieve the stiffest joints. Rub the ointment over the stiff joints.

MINARD'S

"KING OF PAIN"

MINARD'S

W. N. U. 1001

He paused a moment, then raised his right hand and pointed at the wall chart behind him. "The Inconnu River is not shown on that map of yours, inspector. You tried to find out from that Indian, Liddy, where the river is. You didn't know. You don't know now. How could you suggest sending a patrol to a river when you haven't the slightest knowledge of its location? Step up there to that chart, and show us the Inconnu!"

Haskell sprang to his feet, snarling at Alan. "I don't take orders from you!" He was lighting like a trapped wolf. His panic, his livid face, betrayed him.

"Then consider it an order from me!" Williamson commanded. "Show me where the Inconnu is!"

Haskell did not stir. His impetuous defense had crumbled in one spot; the sea was rushing in upon him. . . .

He heard Williamson thundering: "How could you suggest a patrol to a river that you know nothing about?"

Haskell did not answer. Caught, trapped, he had gone too far. He had overplayed. . . . He heard Larry Young's savage chuckling laugh; heard Bill Hardcock mocking.

"To steal Alan's thunder, and get struck by it," Williamson's angry erect figure became a blur. . . . Across the desk he saw Alan Baker's face in a sort of haze, not smiling at him, not mocking, but hard, pitiless. . . . The man had beaten him, had taken away the girl he loved—this when he hated to ferret out the once he had tried to kill him.

Out of the haze he heard Baker's voice, "Lar! Smoother!" . . . Something snapped within him, and his last vestige of self-control was swept away. A maddened anger shook him, blinded him. In a fury he suddenly drew back, arms swinging and smashed a fist against that hated face, as though trying to blot it out.

The wild unsteady Baker for a moment. He stepped back, William sprang to intercept. Bill sprang up and leaped across the room to jump between them. But Haskell was swinging again. Alan swung up his left arm to protect himself. A grimace of pain jagged across his face as the fist fell upon his wound. He did not step away that time. . . . For an instant his eyes measured distance. . . . His right arm went back, swung, and his hand flat caught Haskell under the jaw, a single smashing blow that dazed him and sent him reeling against the wall.

When Bill and Pedersault heaped blows on his chair and he sat down, Haskell laid the two.

"Take Constance Young and get out. Baker, stay here; I want you here."

Agony seized Haskell realized that the superintendent was ordering the men away so that they might not witness the humiliation of an officer. He had lost the advantage he had gained. He lay down upon him. Baker had come triumphing through this hour.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

CHAPTER XIII.

By the Lightning Flash

At Alan's cabin late that evening. Bill was sitting on the edge of the cot, head in hands, plunged into dejected thoughts. He was in such a blue funk that he neither heard nor cared what Alan and Buzard were talking about.

In an hour, just after their accident, he had discovered that he himself was now officially in charge here at Endurance. Walking past Haskell's door he had caught a glimpse of a few angry sentences from Williamson.

"If I had the entire say-so, Haskell, I'd go out of the Mounted faster than you came in. You're suspended. Hardcock will be given command here till I see what Baker is going to do. He don't deserve a chance to walk straight, but I'll give you one rather than kick up a row over you. There's a nook detached down on the border that's about your fit. I'm going to transfer you there, and I'll try not to laugh when I see me saluting you."

To be in command of the detachment was small solace to Bill. It simply meant more work, more responsibility, without Alan's judgment and leadership.

In the shaft of light streaming from the cabin door a girl's figure appeared. Bill straightened up suddenly, recognizing Elizabeth. Always his afraid of the supernatural girl, Bill had no desire to linger and find out her trouble. Nudging Buzard, he whispered:

"She wants to talk with Alan. We'd better get out."

As Elizabeth came across to the library nook in the full candle glow, Alan saw she was angry, and instantly guessed the cause of it. She had heard. . . . She was going to throw reproaches at him, perhaps throw an ultimatum into his face.

With no word about his long patrol or the wounds he had brought away from Elizabeth demanded:

"Is it true—that I've heard—that that reward money? You're not going to accept any of it?"

Alan was shocked that in her first breath she should speak of money. He said rather tersely:

"That's not altogether true. I've tried to steal Alan's thunder, and get struck by it," Williamson's angry erect figure became a blur. . . . Across the desk he saw Alan Baker's face in a sort of haze, not smiling at him, not mocking, but hard, pitiless. . . . The man had beaten him, had taken away the girl he loved—this when he hated to ferret out the once he had tried to kill him.

Out of the haze he heard Baker's voice, "Lar! Smoother!" . . . Something snapped within him, and his last vestige of self-control was swept away. A maddened anger shook him, blinded him. In a fury he suddenly drew back, arms swinging and smashed a fist against that hated face, as though trying to blot it out.

The wild unsteady Baker for a moment. He stepped back, William sprang to intercept. Bill sprang up and leaped across the room to jump between them. But Haskell was swinging again. Alan swung up his left arm to protect himself. A grimace of pain jagged across his face as the fist fell upon his wound. He did not step away that time. . . . For an instant his eyes measured distance. . . . His right arm went back, swung, and his hand flat caught Haskell under the jaw, a single smashing blow that dazed him and sent him reeling against the wall.

When Bill and Pedersault heaped blows on his chair and he sat down, Haskell laid the two.

"Take Constance Young and get out. Baker, stay here; I want you here."

Agony seized Haskell realized that the superintendent was ordering the men away so that they might not witness the humiliation of an officer. He had lost the advantage he had gained. He lay down upon him. Baker had come triumphing through this hour.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

transfer you there, and I'll try not to laugh when I see me saluting you."

To be in command of the detachment was small solace to Bill. It simply meant more work, more responsibility, without Alan's judgment and leadership.

In the shaft of light streaming from the cabin door a girl's figure appeared. Bill straightened up suddenly, recognizing Elizabeth. Always his afraid of the supernatural girl, Bill had no desire to linger and find out her trouble. Nudging Buzard, he whispered:

"She wants to talk with Alan. We'd better get out."

As Elizabeth came across to the library nook in the full candle glow, Alan saw she was angry, and instantly guessed the cause of it. She had heard. . . . She was going to throw reproaches at him, perhaps throw an ultimatum into his face.

With no word about his long patrol or the wounds he had brought away from Elizabeth demanded:

"Is it true—that I've heard—that that reward money? You're not going to accept any of it?"

Alan was shocked that in her first breath she should speak of money. He said rather tersely:

"That's not altogether true. I've tried to steal Alan's thunder, and get struck by it," Williamson's angry erect figure became a blur. . . . Across the desk he saw Alan Baker's face in a sort of haze, not smiling at him, not mocking, but hard, pitiless. . . . The man had beaten him, had taken away the girl he loved—this when he hated to ferret out the once he had tried to kill him.

Out of the haze he heard Baker's voice, "Lar! Smoother!" . . . Something snapped within him, and his last vestige of self-control was swept away. A maddened anger shook him, blinded him. In a fury he suddenly drew back, arms swinging and smashed a fist against that hated face, as though trying to blot it out.

The wild unsteady Baker for a moment. He stepped back, William sprang to intercept. Bill sprang up and leaped across the room to jump between them. But Haskell was swinging again. Alan swung up his left arm to protect himself. A grimace of pain jagged across his face as the fist fell upon his wound. He did not step away that time. . . . For an instant his eyes measured distance. . . . His right arm went back, swung, and his hand flat caught Haskell under the jaw, a single smashing blow that dazed him and sent him reeling against the wall.

When Bill and Pedersault heaped blows on his chair and he sat down, Haskell laid the two.

"Take Constance Young and get out. Baker, stay here; I want you here."

Agony seized Haskell realized that the superintendent was ordering the men away so that they might not witness the humiliation of an officer. He had lost the advantage he had gained. He lay down upon him. Baker had come triumphing through this hour.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

But in those moments of his crushing defeat when Williamson was trying to get the men out of the cabin, Haskell felt the first small breath of a strange relief, like a cool wind across a parched throat.

Involved in loss; had been sucked deeper and deeper into a morass of falsehoods and perjury. He was free of all that now. In these last weeks there had been times—when he looked upon Larry Young, when he thought of Baker's great-hearted adventure, when the news came of Dave MacMillan's suicide—that his conscience had revolted and he had loathed himself. He felt at a though by making a clean breast of everything to Williamson, he would be coming out of a dark and noisome place into the sun.

Only the old aching madness to down, Elizabeth Spaulding would not, but rose to torture him.

The Hardest thing in the KITCHEN
•HARDI-ROLL•

For covering shelves, lining drawers, etc. 31 foot rolls or colored rolls. All dealers, or write—
Applied Paper Products
HAMILTON, ONTARIO

Oxford Group Platform

Independent Candidate Announces Policy Of Absolute Honesty

High Savage, independent candidate for the legislature in Cowichan-Newcastle, B.C., announced at the nomination convention at Duncan that the Oxford group platform of "absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness, absolute love."

Mr. Savage is publisher of the Cowichan leader and a widely known newspaperman, and a supporter of the Oxford group movement. In his speech he made the conventional Oxford group platform of "absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness, absolute love."

"If you want to put me in man I am, and I have changed, have recovered—I know—that the only remedy for this depression will come by the individual altering his views. It is no use changing the government unless we change our selves."

"My paper, by its motto, is pledged to religion, liberty and law. If you want to vote for me, think of that."

Mr. Savage pledged himself to fight "this accursed patronage that makes even the poor devil on the roads today bow to the foreman for fear of his job."

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

During the 12 months ending May, compared with the previous 12 months, the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom from empire countries showed an increase of about 22 per cent, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The increase from Canada was about 60 per cent, and from Australia 17 per cent. Of the total imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the 12 months ending April, Canada supplied 10 per cent, and Australia 20 per cent, while for the same period in 1932, Canada furnished 24.88 per cent and Australia 19.8 per cent.

Food From Many Countries

Delegates To World Economic Conference Have Special Restaurant

Between the plenary session speeches and the committee meetings, the delegates to the Economic Conference are gathered in a special restaurant stocked with nearly all foods and liquids consumed in any part of the world.

The most frustrating representatives of the various countries sample each other's favorite national foods—caviar, sandwiches and, Chinese chicken, five kinds of German sausage, meat sauce from Japan and so on.

Beverages available run the entire range of wines, beers, whiskies, gins, brandies and liquors from a dozen countries, including Arack from Palestine, which bar attendants describe as being "popular among those persons who try anything once."

One waitress boasts of an ability to say "what's your order?" in three languages.

The delegates ride from their hotels to the Conference hall in big cars decorated with small national flags.

How sweet, to find that where you dwell, you can find it all; That in your presence all is well, And you are so beautiful as day.

To cross your threshold is to gain A mood that waits me only there, For in that chamber I attain To peace, to peace, which follows prayer.

How sweet, to find that where you dwell, you can find it all; That in your presence all is well, And you are so beautiful as day.

To cross your threshold is to gain A mood that waits me only there, For in that chamber I attain To peace, to peace, which follows prayer.

How sweet, to find that where you dwell, you can find it all; That in your presence all is well, And you are so beautiful as day.

Only Firestone

Gives You All These
EXTRA VALUES

— and at No Extra Cost

Year after year Firestone has led the way in giving car owners extra tire values to save them money. Now Firestone gives you an amazing new guarantee which fully protects you for twelve months against any condition that may render a Firestone tire unfit for further use as a result of blowouts, cuts, bruises or any other road hazard excepting punctures or running the tire flat.

For this alone it would pay you to buy Firestone—but, in addition, Firestone is the only tire that can give you all these extra values:

1—Two Extra Cords Under the Tread.

2—Gum-Dipped Cords.

3—Balanced Construction.

4—Non-Skid Safety Tread.

As a result of these extra features Firestone gives 25% to 40% longer tire life—no extra cost.

Low Priced Tires. If you want a low priced but dependable tire, ask for the Firestone Oldfield. As good as most first line tires, but costs 20 per cent less. Made by Firestone and guaranteed for 12 months.

Larsen Implements

"House of Service" Arrowwood and Mossleigh

Arrowwood United Church

Rev. V. M. Gilbert, Minister
Sunday, July 16
11.45 a.m. Morning Worship
"Books and Bones"
Everybody Welcome

The United Church of Canada

Milo Mission Field
J. G. BROWN, B.A.
Student Minister
Sunday, July 16
Milo—12 a.m.
Queenstown—8 p.m.
"The Man Who Played God"

Church of the Brethren

Rev. John Wicand, Pastor
10.30 a.m. — Sunday School.
11.30 a.m. — Morning
8.00 p.m. — Evening Service.
"The Spirit Stirred Man" will be the theme of the Pastor's morning discourse. And Haggai to find out who he was. Mr. Clarence Brubaker will sing a solo.
In the evening an illustrated sermon will be presented. The subject will be, "Things that Hinder." A message will be given by a ladies' quartet.

Paris Green for Bugs

Scythes, Snaths and Stones for Weeds

L. H. Phillips

HARDWARE
Arrowwood Alberta

Bow Valley Resource.

Independent.

Published every Thursday morning at Arrowwood, Alberta.
Subscription—$2.00 a year in Canada, $2.50 in the United States. All advertising and changes of copy must be in our hands by Wednesday noon.
Advertising rates furnished on request.

NORMAN G. CARY,
Editor and Publisher.

Promotions in Grades VII and VIII

Promotions are in alphabetical order.

Grade VII to VIII

Tommy Anderson

Geneva Culp

Annie Dumka

Lloyd Irwin

Doris Miller

Raymond Moss

Lorna Richards

Carl Salter

Loretta Weiss

Betty Jean Vancil

Grade VIII to IX

Stuart Beagle

June Clifgard

Mildred Irwin

Norman Jones

Betty Kelly

Hermion Leith

Leroy Richards

Rosella Royer

Clara Service

Hazel Taylor

Larry Terchow

Clarence Williams

Hurley Williams

Jack Williams

Shirley Ward

Teacher—H. McCullough.

Promotion in Grades IV, V and VI
Those having above 75 in every subject have been promoted with honors.
Grade IV to V

Honors

Kathleen Thompson

Arthur Brown

Elaine Brubaker

Mary Wains

Glady's Leonard
Joyce Robinson
Shirley Taylor
Clifford Smith

Pass
Myrna Lord
Dorothy Williams

Freda Board
Frank Henderson

Mike Terchow
Merlin Miller

Eric Nissen
Lila Service

Clarence Hoyer
Clara Beagle

Charles Salter
Above names are not arranged according to standings.

Grade V to VI

Honors

Ivy Riches 96

Betty Eliza Jones 95

Inger Nissen 92

Charlotte Kelly 92

Grace Board 88

Verlyn Culp 87

Raymond Lewendon 85

Merlyn Burris 84

Pass

Carl Dumka 78

Bobby Riddell 76

Beth Board 70

Betty Williams 74

Gordon Richards 70

Grade VI to VII

Honors

Erma Richards 92

Dorothy Hesketh 89

Edith Beagle 86

Grace Barger 84

Phyllis Cochran 83

Albert Riddell 83

Pass

Jessie Jones 83

Florence Royer 75

Lawrence Anderson 73

Leslie Royer 67

Promoted on Condition

Keith Cochran 60

Dale Williams 68

Prize for the nearest perfect attendance goes to Carl Dumka who attended 193.5 days out of 194.

Teacher—Miss L. Spencer

Additional Locals

(Continued from page 1)

R. W. Terchow, operator and owner of Mac's truck has traded his International truck for a Ford truck of longer wheel base and is now better equipped to serve his patrons promptly.

T. J. Barr, of near Mossleigh, was transacting business in Arrowwood and calling on old friends Wednesday. It is always a pleasure to have the genial Tom in our midst.

Mrs. W. H. Ellis and Miss Beth leave tomorrow for the Calgary Stampede. After spending a couple of days there they will continue their holiday by going to Olds and Didsbury.

The New Goodrich Safety Silvertown

WITH LIFE-SAVER, GOLDEN FLY

We were certainly amazed when we saw the tests on this new tire. We hardly thought it possible for any tire company to make a tire that would stand up under heat and continuous wear and abuse the way this one does.
In addition to all its other features of safety and durability, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the amazing new Life-Saver Golden Fly. It resists terrific heat. Fabric and rubber don't separate. Blisters don't form inside the tire. Blow-outs are prevented. Drop in today and let us show you a cross section of this amazing new tire. It costs no more than other standard tires.
Guaranteed for 12 Months

West End Garage

Arrowwood Alberta

Sunday, July 16th at 9:30
Communion Service will be held in the Catholic Church. Visitors are cordially invited. After service a basket picnic will be held at the river. Every body welcome and bring your basket.

Messrs. Russell Burris, Joe Dumka, Joe Burger, and Melvin and Donald Bowman left Monday morning by car for Banff where where they will camp till Friday.

Mr and Mrs. Allan Phillips returned to Arrowwood on Tuesday after spending their honeymoon in Fernie B. C., Banff and other western points.

Mrs. L. F. Pinkerton of Nampa, and her brother, Mr. R. D. Wilkinson of Waupun, Wis., were visitors on Tuesday with Messrs. Wm. and Millan Pinkerton of the Mossleigh district.

G. E. Harp just returned from a month's visit to Coast points and to visit his parents at Newburg, Ore., his mother having been in an ill for the past sixteen months. He had visited his parents two weeks when his mother passed away on June on 26th. Mr. Harp reports that the best looking crops seen in 2000 miles of travel is located in the Arrowwood and Mossleigh districts. He said the lumber business was picking up many mills returning to work that have not been in operation for three or four years, with considerable building being undertaken. There seems to be a marked increase in the feeling that the worst of the depression is over, with considerable optimism regarding the Roosevelt program of re-employment in new public work and highway improvement.

E. D. ARCHAMBAULT
Barber Arrowwood
Patronize Home Industry and Keep the Money in Our Own Town
Arrowwood Barber Shop

It is better to have insurance and not need it, than to need it and not have it. See Omer Larsen

What a thrill! To know you have the best tire on any road. Equal to all emergencies. Proof against the shock and strain of long, hard driving. Sturdy! Safe! Thousands of trouble-free miles.

Come in and see how low in price genuine Goodyears are. We have your size.

GOOD YEAR

ARROWWOOD GARAGE

R. L. CULP, Proprietor

Arrowwood Phone 27

The Modern Grillette and Sandwich Toaster

All Round Cooking Appliance

The Grillette may be used to Fry or Boil: Bacon—Steaks—Chops—Eggs—Sausages—Make Pancakes—

Toast Rolls—Warm Baby's Milk

The Elements Are Guaranteed for One Year

Special Price For Limited Time $3.50

HOT POINT ELECTRIC IRONS

This weather is too hot for you to allow your wife to waste her energy with an old fashioned, stove-heated iron. They're cheaply operated and fully guaranteed.

ARROWWOOD GARAGE

R. L. Culp, Chevrolet Dealer

Milk or Cream

Any Quantity—Any Time

RATES FOR QUANTITY LOTS

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Phone Orders to the Vancil Family 415

ARROWWOOD DAIRY

MRS. E. LEWENDON

Licensed Nursing Home

Moderate Rates

ARROWWOOD - - ALTA.

WAGIN' TUNG

Vol. 2, No. 47 Arrowwood, July 13, 1933 Items for Thot

We Are Still Optimistic

In our travels the past week, from Brooks to Calgary, we find the crop outlook in the Arrowwood district is the best we have seen and G. E. Harp, just returning from Oregon, reports that in his two thousand mile travel, he saw nothing better than he found right here at home, and while we are in need of moisture, it is encouraging to know that we are better situated than those in other districts.

In a few days we will have set up one of the latest models New John Deere Binders that will be ready for your inspection. This is the latest thing in the 1933 Binders.

Now that our new oil warehouse is completed and our stock is all arranged, we are in a position to give you the service we have been endeavoring to give in supplying your needs in gas, oil and greases. Remember you can buy no better lubricant for your gas motor than our British American Autolene. We carry them in stock in a weight for every purpose. You may pay more for your oils but our Autolene will serve you best.

We haul anything anywhere anytime, and it may be to our mutual benefit to give us a trial in this line. We are glad of the opportunity to serve you when it comes to hauling.

"That was a peach I saw you with last night."
"She was no peach, she was a grapefruit. I squeezed her and she hit me in the eye."

Good Equipment Makes a Good Farmer Better

Larsen Implements

"House of Service"

ARROWWOOD and MOSSLEIGH